THE BLUE AND GRAY

Marched in the Procession Which Escorted President Roosevelt,

IN CITY OF LOUISVILLE

There the Chief Executive Made a Brief Address From the Speakers' Stand at the Court House.

INTRODUCED BY GOVERNOR BECKHAM

Louisville, Ky., April 5.—President Roosevelt and party arrived in Louisville Tuesday morning on schedule time, the train coming to a stop at Third and A streets at 9 o'clock. The trip over the Louisville and Nashville from Cincinnati was without incident.

A moment after the train stopped a detail of state militia stationed in the Horse Show building, two miles from the place where the exeentive left his train, fired the presidential salute of twenty-one guns. A crowd of several thousand, including 2,000 children from several institutions, surrounded the train, and, as the president made his appearance he was greeted with hearty cheers.

The president arrived at the speakers' stand in front of the court house, at Sixth and Jefferson streets, at 10 a. m. He was introduced in a few words by Governor Beckham.

The crowd around the speakers' stand was limited only by the lines of buildings on the various streets and at times seemed beyond the control of the police. Not one-fifth of those in sight of the president could hear his remarks. The president spoke less than fifteen minutes. He was heartily cheered. Among other things, he said:

"Naturally I feel particularly gratified at seeing here today, joined in this procession, the men who wore the blue and the men who wore the gray.

"In those dark days—now keep just as quiet as you can, you won't be able to do anything more than see, anyhow (laughter and applause)—in the dark days each of you fought for the right as it was given him to see the right. [A voice: "That's right!"] and each of you has left us the right to feel pride not only of your valor, but in your devotion to what you conscientiously believed your duty.

"And now we are all one, and as a united people we have the right to feel the same pride in the valor of the man who conscientiously risked his life in the Confederate uniform that we have in the man who fought in the blue.

"And as I passed by your ranks, O my friends in gray today, and saluted the flag of our common country, held up by a man in the gray uniform, I felt that indeed we are one and that we have been able to show mankind the greatest war of the century can be followed by the most perfect union that any nation now knows."

At the Louisville hotel the president was presented with a flagon filled with water from the spring at Abraham Lincoln's birthplace, an inkstand made from a tree on Lincoln's birthplace, and a silver vase.

Twenty Miners Dead.

Carbondale, Ill., April 5.—An explosion in Joseph Leiter's coal mine at Zeigler resulted in the death of at least twenty miners and in the fatal injury of eighteen others.

According to reports received here, the entire opening of the mine at the surface is wrecked. Although the explosion is attributed to gas, suspicion exists that there may have been another cause. Only non-union men are employed in the mine since the strike for increased wages some months ago, resulted in riots and the presence of militia and armed guards.

The last of the troops were recently withdrawn, although reports were current that there had been attempts to bribe officials to permit outsiders to gain entrance to the mine, the supposed object being to make the mine unworkable.

State Mine Inspector Atkinson reported at his last examination of the shaft that 190 men were employed in two shifts. The explosion is reported to have occurred as the two shifts were changing.

—Fire at Carbon, Ind., destroyed 20 business houses and 40 residences, entailing a loss of over $200,000.

STRONG LEGAL FIRM.

George W. Zeigler, Esq, and Ex-Judge Love, Form a Law Partnership.

Hon. John G. Love, of Bellefonte, late President Judge of the 49th judicial district, and Geo. W. Zeigler, Esq., of Philipsburg, have formed a special partnership for the practice of the law, with the firm offices in the rooms now occupied by Mr. Zeigler in the Foster block, Philipsburg, Pa. These gentlemen will make a strong firm in every branch of the law. Ex-Judge Love will bring into the firm a wide training in the practice of the law, ten years experience on the bench of Centre county, and a marked ability as an advocate before the court and jury; while Mr. Zeigler, with his large experience in office and corporation practice, has built up a most extensive and lucrative law business here. The two gentlemen should make a formidable combination, and we predict for the new firm the most abundant success,—Philipsburg Journal.

Death of Mrs. John Clark.

On Wednesday evening the death angel entered the Clark home on West Lamb street and took hence to the spirit land the beloved wife and mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Clark. The deceased had been ill for the past six weeks and her death was due to neuralgia of the heart.

She was the daughter of Samuel and Sarah Gettig and was born in Brush Valley, Clinton county, Sept. 1st, 1849, making her age at time of death 55 years, 6 months and 29 days.

She was married twice, her husband, Adam Lose, dying several years ago. She then married John Clark who survives her. She also leaves the following children, Calvin Lose, of Marion twp; Chas. and Sadie Lose at home and Della, Minnie and Lizzie Clark also at home.

She also leaves the following brothers and sisters, Lewis and Irvin, of Bellefonte; George and Clayton, of Pleasant Gap; Frank of Curtins Works; Mrs. Frank Weaver, Mrs. John Uhl, Mrs. Harvey Hoy, of Pleasant Gap; Mrs. Wm Sampsell, of Braddock, Allegheny county Pa.

One son William died a month ago at Clearfield but the mother who was ill at the time was spared this sad news.

She was a faithful member of the Methodist church, a kind mother and an affectionate wife. She was a sincere christian lady and will be sincerely mourned by her family and many friends.

The funeral was held on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from her home. Interment in the Lutheran cemetery at Pleasant Gap.

They Were Not Guilty.

Tuesday March 28, a hearing was given David Chambers, Dr. John Haag, James and George Uzzle, before Justice Keichline, on the charge of hunting deer last November with dogs. The prosecution was brought by Joseph Berries, state game warden, of Harrisburg, assisted by H. E. Hummelsbaugh, of Clearfield county, and E. B. Farrell, of Clinton county, who are local game wardens.

The testimony was from a party of hunters of Cambria county who while in the vicinity of Moose Run, Nov. 7th, heard several dogs bark as if on a chase, shots were fired and later came upon a party of hunters who were cleaning a deer just killed. Three of them identified David Chambers as being there with a dog. There was no proof that he was hunting deer, or chased deer with his dog.

Mr. Chambers took the stand and testified that he had been there, came upon a strange party whom he did not know, saw the deer, and went on. He was hunting pheasants at the time and had a trained bird dog with him that would not follow a deer.

At this point the testimony closed and N. B. Spangler, attorney for prosecution, after a brief consultation with the wardens, declared that the evidence was insufficient and withdrew the charge, which to our mind was based on very flimsy and unsufficient evidence.

Death of James Mallighan.

James Mallighan, a well known and highly respected citizen of Hollidaysburg, died at his home in that place on Wednesday evening at 10:30 o'clock. Death was due to paralysis. The deceased was born in Ireland and was 78 years of age.

He is survived by his wife and the following children: John and William, of Hollidaysburg; Mrs. Frank Kern, Mrs. John Curry and Mrs. Joseph Betzendorfer, of Altoona; Mrs. William C. Dawson, of Bellefonte.

The funeral took place last Saturday morning at 10:20 from St. Mary's Catholic church at Hollidaysburg. Interment in St. Mary's Catholic cemetery.

MISSIONARY CONVENTION

The Opening Services Were Conducted by Rev. R. P. Miller

CHURCH DECORATED

The Thirtieth Annual Convention of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of Huntingdon Presbytery Convened at Philipsburg.

MANY DELEGATES IN ATTENDANCE.

What is pronounced as one of the most successful of the thirty annual meetings of this devoted band of christian women was held in the Presbyterian church at Philipsburg Wednesday and Thursday of last week. For weeks past the president of the local society, Mrs. R. P. Miller, and the members of the organization had been working and planning for the successful reception and entertainment of the hundred or more delegates who were in attendance. Hospitable homes, regardless of denominational lines, were thrown open to the visitors, most of whom arrived here Wednesday afternoon and evening, although a goodly number came in Thursday morning for that day's session.

The convention opened with a popular meeting Wednesday evening, which taxed the capacity of the church to seat the people.

The church was tastefully decorated with flags of all nations, made and presented by Mrs. L. W. Nuttall, who was assisted in the work by Mrs. H. Foster and Misses Henrietta Zeigler and Mary Riddle, who are spending the winter in Ashville. Mingled with these gay banners was our own "red, white and blue," and the effect was picturesque and appropriate.

The opening services were conducted by Rev. R. P. Miller, pastor of the Philipsburg church. The beautiful vocal solo, "O Love Divine" was sweetly sung by Mrs. Miller, after which Rev. J. C. Garritt, of Hangchow, China, gave the address of the evening. He has lived and worked so long in China that he knows his subject thoroughly and gave a graphic description of the vast possibilities and tremendous obstacles of the Chinese mission field. China resents the idea of nations but a few hundred years ago barbarians, attempting to teach them, whose history runs back to the time of the Tower of Babel. Yet the work of the "foreign devils," as the missionaries are termed, is making wonderful progress. Dr. Garritt gave a brief but comprehensive account of the causes which led to the Boxer uprising, and laid much of the responsibility on the press of other nations whose reports of the proposed partition of China by the powers excited anger and distrust.

At the close of the meeting the convention proper met and organized, the president, Miss Lowrie, in the chair. Roll call of delegates, responded to by Scripture selection in concert was followed by the address of welcome by Mrs. Miller:

President, officers and members of the Foreign Missionary society of the Huntingdon Presbytery. It is my privilege in behalf of our local society, our congregation, and our friends in other congregations who have kindly thrown open their homes to welcome you to our mountain city, to our church and to our homes, as you gather in your annual meeting.

We welcome you for the sake of the great work you are engaged in. We recognize the masterly claim of Foreign missions on every christian heart and hand. We rejoice in the hearty response christian women have made to this claim, and we are thankful for the great work done by the Foreign Missionary Society of this Presbytery sending the gospel to heathen lands. We welcome you for your own sakes. It is a great pleasure to us to meet so many of the ladies who in churches of the Presbytery are so earnestly and faithfully engaged in our Master's service.

We welcome you also for our own sake. We have not such a strong church or as well organized a society as many of you represent and we will be encouraged and aided by what we hear and see in this annual meeting.

We hesitated somewhat about inviting you, for fear we should not be able properly to entertain so large a company, and we cannot care for you as we would like, but the best we have and all we have is freely given, and with the whole heart we say, welcome to Philipsburg and to our homes.

Mrs. H. R Smith, of Altoona, responded as follows:

It is certainly very pleasant to receive such cordial words of welcome from our Philipsburg friends, and I am sure we all appreciate the kind hospitality, extended to the Presbyterial society. We hope our coming to this church will bring a mutual blessing, and believe that entertaining this convention is like the "quality of mercy, twice blessed," it blesseth him that gives and him that takes."

This yearly gathering is the season of refreshment that comes, when all the grand army of workers marshalling from every town, village and hamlet in the presbytery, assemble at the appointed place, to get news from the front, and hear what is being done in the dark corners of the earth. It is a glorious privilege to be united in some good work. There is an enthusiasm in numbers, no matter into how much of a rut we have fallen, or how discouraged we have been, or how we have puzzled over the old time worn questions of creating and keeping up the interest, raising funds, etc., when we come together and hear the methods and experiences of others our zeal is kindled afresh. And when we hear the burning words of our missionaries fresh from the scene of their labors, who bring us good news from every mission field, we enter into a fellowship of service, and feel that we are partakers with them in the most glorious work in the world.

In looking over the story of the thirty years since the first annual, we can but praise God for the growth and ask ourselves what was the most potent factor in the advance? We would answer prayer, fervent, effectual prayer.

The prayers of consecrated women which have been ascending as a fragrant incense, before the throne all these years, have brought the promised blessing. As prayers and missions have gone hand in hand since the days of the early church, so they must continue. Just how much of the rich blessing which has attended our work has come in answer to prayer, we may not know, but we do know, that praying is the one power, above and through all else, which has made the work effective and enduring.

Let us pray that God will touch the hearts of all the women of the church, that they may accept their share of the responsibility and the blessing.

After the appointment of resolution and nominating committees the meeting adjourned to meet at 9 o'clock sharp Thursday morning. Devotional exercises led by Miss McCuley and Mrs. Elder, opened the morning session. Then came the reports of corresponding and recording secretaries, superintendent of literature and the treasurer. We were not able to secure any of these but the latter which showed a total of $4521.49 contributed during the year. Dr. Garritt also spoke again at this session Miss Christine Herron of India, addressed the ladies, telling the sad story of the women of that land, who sit in bondage and darkness which nothing but the Light of the World can lift. The lady is a pleasing and impressive speaker and illustrated her talk by the costume worn by the ladies of high degree among the Mohamedans. The annual letter of Miss C. W. Stewart, giving glimpses of the work gave new impetus to all the workers. Mrs. Barber, of Curwensville, and Mrs. Mann, of Lewistown, rendered duets at this session and also in the afternoon to the great pleasure of all present. After devotional exercises the convention adjourned for lunch which was served in the Tyson-Hoffman building.

The afternoon session opened with a Young Peoples' Hour, conducted by Miss Grace Burdett, in which Children's and young lady's bands, and Endeavor societies were represented. An interesting Question Box was conducted by Miss Roberta Barr, followed by a colloquy on Foreign missions by Mrs. Weaver and Miss Youngman, Mrs. W. O. Johnson, of Korea, gave a delightful talk on the 'Hermit Nation' and after the reports of the nominating and resolutions committees, and closing words the convention adjourned to meet at Hollidaysburg next year.

The collections taken at the convention reached almost $150.

REPORT OF NOMINATING COMMITTEE.

President—Miss S. R. Lowrie, Warriorsmark.

OUR BORO FATHERS

Committee on Pruner Home Makes a Report.

ALL MEMBER PRESENT

The Bellefonte Traction Company Accepts the Street Railway Franchise as Granted a Month Ago By Council.

OLD UNDINE BUILDING RENTED

Council met Monday evening with President Jenkins in the chair and the following members present: Kirk, Fenlon, Seibert, Wise, Keichline, Brown, Keller and Derstine.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

The council took no action in regard to the police appointments and as officers Mullen and Jodon were appointed last year on their good behavior, council can take the matter up anytime it sees fit.

The Bellefonte traction company accepted the Street Railway Franchise as granted a month ago by council which would seem to indicate that the road will be a sure go.

The old Undine building on Logan street has been rented to R. J. Jackson.

The committee on the Pruner ordinance made their report and as this matter is of prime interest to our people we publish the report in full as follows:

TO THE COUNCIL:

The committtee provided for in the ordinance adopted at the last meeting of the council, to confer with a like committee from Tyrone on the establishment of a home under the bequest of the late Col. Pruner for Friendless Children would respectfully report:

That they met the committee from Tyrone at the office of the solicitor of this borough on Friday the 24th day of March last. The conference was in a measure general, and in a general way the case, establishment, and the cost of running such a home were talked over as well as the probability of being able to properly maintain such a home on the income provided for it by the testator. At this meeting there was also a draft of an ordinance drawn under the provisions of which the home, if established, was to be organized.

At this meeting counsel for Mrs. Hayes appeared and offered to pay each of the boroughs the sum of $10,000 cash if they would release all their right in and to the properties devised by Col. Pruner for the support and maintenance of the home. We report this matter for the consideration of the council. At present we make no recommendation as to whether the proposition should be adopted or not, but in making the report we would specifically call the attention of the council to the fact that Col. Pruner has expressly provided in his will that, "Should there be any reason why the boroughs of Torone and Bellefonte cannot carry out the provisions of this will then the property for said home is bequeathed to Sallie M. Hayes." Fearing that under a provision so broad as this the boroughs might accept the property and then later dispose of it and Mrs. Hayes not reap benefit therefrom he further provided that "If such bequest becomes invalidated from any cause then the real estate is bequeathed to Sallie M. Hayes."

This clause in the will presents the case in this light, as we are advised. That if the home should be opened and at the end of five or ten years or any number of years, should be closed because there were no children to be kept in it, or because there was not sufficient income to support it, the property in either case would revert to Mrs. Hayes per force of the will, and in either case there would be no payment made to either of the boroughs. We do not recommend action at this meeting but submit this report for the purpose of showing progress made in the matter referred to the committee.

Respectfully submitted,

Signed
W. R. JENKINS
JOS. WISE } Committee.
M. A. KIRK.

Bellefonte, Pa., April 3, '05.

After approving the usual number of bills the council adjourned.

MILLHEIM HIGH SCHOOL.

Graduation Exercises Close with an Elaborate Banquet Tuesday Evening.

Millheim is cultivating a healthy educational sentiment, and has for its leader Prof. C. R. Neff, a man completely absorbed in the intellectual advancement of the pupils under his instruction. The fore gone was proven in toto by the exercises incident to the graduation of a class of four pupils from the High School. Tuesday night March 28.

The graduating class consisted of Miss Lyda A. Musser, Wm. C. Mingle, Earnest R. Schreckengast and Boyd F. Winkleblech, each of whom had taken the full three years' course in the High School. These young people acquitted themselves at these exercises in a most excellent manner. Their orations were prepared with great care and were delivered in a way that in no light betrayed their first attempt at public speaking. In fact, there were frequent bursts of oratory that would be a credit to students who made that branch a special study. Lest these remaks be applied, through error, solely to the male portion of the class, it may be said that the essay read by Miss Musser lacked nothing in interest or manner of rendering, and the subject was fully developed, the style, diction and phraseology choice. The exercises were interspersed with instrumental music rendered by Misses Bessie Sturgis, Eva Meyer, Mary Hartman, Anna Smith and Mrs. H. N. Meyer.

The banquet given to the Junior class by the Seniors was served in the very home-like home of Prof. and Mrs. Neff. Forty-two persons sat at the table, all of whom, in actions or words, lauded the Millheim Public Schools and the Principal, congratulated the four young people who had just experienced the honey-moon of education, and bespoke good for the large Junior class.

The exercises will be one of the pleasant recollections of school life that in future years will be referred to as the beginning of a healthy sentiment for education in the borough of Millheim. —Centre Reporter.

AN ELOPEMENT.

Popular Young Couple Wedded at Buffalo Tuesday.

George Schwem, of the DuBois Brewing company, and Miss Bertha Chambers, daughter of James Chambers, of the Logan house, DuBois, but formerly of Bellefonte, were reported as being married at Buffalo Tuesday. They took the night flyer for that city Tuesday morning, and when seen Tuesday night, Mr. Chambers said that he had not heard from the young people but he presumed they were married.

The young couple are among the best known and most popular set of the town, and no doubt will be accorded a hearty reception when they return.

Ignorant of Son's Arrest.

A letter with a heart-breaking mission was sent by Attorney Swetland, of Coudersport, a few days ago to Edward Turner, of Pocono Forks, Monroe county. Mr. Turner is the father of Charles Turner, the convict in the Allegheny penitentiary, who was murdered by a fellow prisoner, and this letter tells him, for the first time, of his son's arrest and death.

Turner was sentenced from that county less than two years ago for larceny, the theft—that of clothing—having been committed at Cross Fork while the young man was under the influence of drink. It was the first time young Turner had committed an act meriting arrest.

He had been employed in a lumber camp near Cross Fork, and was well liked by his woodsmen friends. An uncle of his, John Aylesworth, resides near Galeton. Young Turner had lived with him for awhile.

When Turner got into trouble his friends determined there was no need of notifying his parents in Monroe county, believing it to be an act of mercy to withholding the news of their son's disgrace. He would have been discharged from the penitentiary on April 8, his good behavior having earned for him a considerable reduction of time.

Turner had written to his uncle expressing the desire soon to be able to go home to visit his parents. When the news of his death came his uncle went to Coudersport and asked Attorney Swetland to send the young man's parents a letter and tell them the story of his arrest and fatal assault.

TOMMY KNOCKERS, THE MINERS' GHOSTS,

It was during the "graveyard" shift in a mine that the superstitions of the miners develop; and it is then that the "tommy knockers" are heard, but not always. The "graveyard" shift is in the dead of night—usually between 11 o'clock p. m., and 2 o'clock in the morning. Nearly all of the big mines of the west are in operation constantly during the twenty-four hours of each day and the seven days of every week, Sunday and holidays having no consideration. A great mining plant does not shut down on the Fourth of July or even at Christmas. The men are driving the drills, the "shots" are being fired, the broken ore shoveled into cars and carried out through shaft or tunnel, and the big mills are grinding, pounding and roaring for 365 days in the year. So the miner who works steadily has no variation in his life. He is almost as much alone and away from the world as the sailor at sea, and the conditions are, it seems to me, far more propitious for the birth and growth of superstitions.

The miner works always in total darkness. No matter whether he be of the day shift or the night shift, it is always night in the mine. And much of the time the miner, he who drills in the breast of the tunnel or "drift" is entirely alone—he and his flickering little candle—in the dark. Perhaps he is working in a wet mine. Then, to the tune of his hammer as he strikes the drill, he hears the accompaniment of dripping water—drip, drip, drip, incessantly. The miner stops to rest and mop his face and light his pipe. Then he sits for a few minutes puffing; looks into the black tunnel back of him. The dripping never ceases; and the miner begins unconsciously to wonder and to dream. Surely this is fertile soil for imagination.

Not long before, perhaps, a man was killed in this mine. He was a driller and alone in the breast of the tunnel, when throughout the mine an explosion was heard. The driller was found in the darkness, for the explosion had blown out his candle. The air was thick with powder smoke and the dust of rock, and his body was torn and bruised so that it no longer had human form. It was as though an old suit of clothes had been filled with a mass of bloody flesh.

"A missed hole," said the foreman.

And so it undoubtedly was, for the "missed hole" has killed many drillers in mines. In working in a breast of rock, in driving a tunnel or "drift" the driller usually, if the rock is hard, puts in five or six holes, fills each with powder, sets the fuses, touches a light to them, and then steps back into the tunnel a safe distance until the powder has exploded.

The crew of the men, the "shift" changes and another driller, unconscious of the presence of the "missed hole" goes to work in the tunnel. Perhaps, as he hammers merrily away, driving the hard steel into the rock, the end of his drill strikes the cap of the load that did not go off. Then there is an explosion, a cloud of smoke and dust in the darkness, a poor mutilated dead body, and another fatality from a "missed hole" is recorded.

The miners, of course, all know of these things; and likely as not the solitary driller in the graveyard shift, sitting to rest a minute and smoking, turns over in his mind some of these fearful tragedies that add danger and mystery to mining. In the dead of night with the knowledge that his turn may come next, such thoughts are not comforting or exhilarating to the solitary man.

Then, suddenly in the never-ceasing drip, drip, drip, of the water, he hears some one drilling. He hears the regular ring of the hammer somewhere not far from him in the mine. He is at first puzzled and mystified, for he knows that he is alone in that part of the mine. The graveyard shift contains usually the smallest number of men. Never doubting the accuracy of his understanding the miner takes his candle from the rock and tramps through the tunnel toward the sound of the drilling. He stops to listen. Now it seems above him and he climbs up into a "raise," where ore has been taken down from above the tunnel. He holds his candle over him and searches the darkness with straining eyes.

There is no light of another driller, but the sound of the hammer continues—only it seems to be a little farther away. The miner descends from the "raise" and tramps again through the tunnel, his feet splashing through the mud and water. The miner stops in surprise. He is alone, 500 feet below ground, except for his unknown companion. There is a moment of silence, intensified, it seems, by the drip, drip, drip of the water and the utter darkness.

Not far ahead the miner suddenly hears a new sound. Some one is walking rapidly through the tunnel with a regular tread, splashing in the mud and water. The miner, his candle at his side, quickly follows. He almost runs in haste to find his companion. But the tramp and splash of unknown feet are always just ahead of him. The miner stops and shouts:

"Hey, who are you, there?"

No answer comes and he calls again and again. Still he hears in the darkness the tread and splash of phantom feet. All at once, although he is a strong man, the miner is filled with fear. He begins to tremble and grow cold, and then in a panic of fear he turns and flies, stumbling and plunging through the tunnel to the shaft.

Here is the empty cage for lifting ore. It is at the foot of a shaft which it fits exactly, and when the miner pulls the wire, which rings a signal bell at the top, and springs into the cage, he is raised in a few seconds through the darkness to the free air 500 feet above. The engineer at the hoisting machine wonders what has happened. The miner tells him his experience, and both men sit silent in a vague fear. They realize then that the "tommy knocker," the ghost of the mine, had been heard again.

Miners don't laugh about the "tommy knockers." I have known men of intelligence, who have long since ceased to work "under ground" solemnly aver that the "tommy knockers" invariably visit the mine where a man has been killed. The spirit comes back, it seems, to the old haunts of the body. Sometimes it drills, sometimes it runs a phantom car, sometimes it wanders aimlessly through the workings of the mine. But invariably, according to the miner's belief, the ghost returns. Sometimes the ghost of the mine is seen, but usually only heard.

To the miner who works alone in the darkness there are many sounds that might be exaggerated by imagination Sometimes a timber that prevents the caving in of the sides of a tunnel grows rotten and breaks, and the sounds rings resonantly throughout the hollow underground passageways. In some mines there are curious echoes, caused by the formation of the rock, and some loose earth in the wall of a "stope" an empty chamber where ore has been taken out, falls with a clatter that is heard far away. To the miner whose imagination has been stimulated by his solitude and the darkness, these noises may be prolonged and changed until they become to him the sound of a footfall or of a driller's hammer.

And the mines have mysterious voices, too. A mining friend of mine told me of a strange warning which came to him once, and a narrow escape from death. He was working in a mine in Montana, into which the water flowed in such quantities that it was necessary to keep pumps constantly at work drawing it to the surface. My friend was in charge of the pumps, and when each crew, or "shift" of men finished its work this man would regularly make an inspection of all the five pumps which were in operation.

The ore was lifted from this mine on an inclined shaft. The cars which run on wheels up such a shaft are called "skips," and it was the breaking of a "skip" which came near being fatal that night. The pump inspector had visited four of the pumps, and was about to start down the shaft to the fifth, which was on the level 500 feet below the ground, when, as he tells me, he felt a peculiar feeling of fear, and a voice directly over his shoulder said to him:

"Don't you go down that shaft to-night!"

The miner stopped. He seemed almost to feel the breath of the voice against his cheek. He was aware, he said, of a distinct presence. Then he told himself that he was foolish to heed any such imaginings like this, and he went down to the pump. When he reached the 500-foot level he began at once his inspection of the machinery. Back in the tunnel, which extended away in the darkness, the water stood, nearly filling the passage, over a man's head in depth.

A hundred feet above, on ore car filled with tons of rock was emptied into a "skip," which was started up the incline shaft toward the surface. A moment later the man working at the pump heard a crashing, a terrific rattling sound. He realized at once that the "skip" had broken, and that the tons of rock were tumbling toward him down the shaft. Instinctively he flattened himself against the wall and the rock came like an avalanche. Most of it he escaped, but heavy pieces struck his breast and shoulders, causing painful bruises. But this was not the worst.

Soon the air was filled with hissing steam. The load of ore in its fall had broken a steam-pipe above, and the inspector knew that in a few minutes more he would be smothered. The steam was blinding. It was hot and stifling in his nostrils and his lungs. But he had little time to think. Only one course was open. He plunged into the icy water of the tunnel and swam out into the darkness.

Then the break in the steam-pipe was discovered by those above. An engineer turned a valve and stopped the hot vapor's flow. The inspector, seeing that the cloud of steam had diminished, swam back to the shaft and rang a signal bell. A car was lowered, and he rode to the surface, weak with his bruises. And now he does not doubt the voice that spoke to him over his shoulder and said:

"Don't go down the shaft to-night!"

Although fatalities in mines are so frequent, miners are peculiarly careless, it seems, about repairing the breaks in flooring or timbers that cause death. Among miners themselves this is admitted; but they do not explain the reason for it. Last winter I went through a large mine that is acknowledged to be one of the most carefully and systematically operated mining plants in the United States. Several of us were picking our way very carefully by the light of our candles through a sort of side tunnel which extended over a deep crevice, from which large quantities of ore had been taken. We were walking on a flooring of plank and logs, when suddenly the superintendent of the mine, who was ahead and was our guide, stopped.

"Look out for this hole!" he said, pointing to a gap in the plank. Then, as we came up, he told us that a month before a "shift boss" had been walking on these same planks, when one of them gave way and the man fell into the open crevice beneath. He was found sixty feet below, dead, his neck broken. Yet the broken place had not been repaired, although a month had passed.

Certain mines, like certain houses, are believed to be haunted. And these mines, where the "tommy knockers" are, have usually been the scenes of violent deaths. The records of such mines are talked over by the miners as they gather at lunch-time far under ground to eat the contents of their dinner-buckets, or as two or three of them assemble together somewhere in the workings for a few minutes to loaf and smoke their pipes when the boss is out of sight. But in spite of its dangers, the isolation which it often entails, the arduous labor which it necessitates, and the fatal ailments which it breeds, no calling is so fascinating to its followers as is mining. Men who have become crippled and bent and old in their labor gladly take up their buckets, climb on to the cage, and are dropped under ground; and there, like some burrowing animal, they are at home and happy.

The most superstitious are the Cornishmen. Everywhere they are known among the miners as "Cousin Jacks." They are great smokers and frequently they gather together in little groups under ground to smoke and talk—when the "shift boss" is away. And when a "Cousin Jack" invites a comrade to smoke he says, "Come, touch pipe a bit, old son," which is a very sociable greeting indeed. "Tommy knocker is a word originated by the Cornishmen; and a superstition which they persist in is that there must never be any whistling in a mine. It's bad luck.

A Simple Remedy for Acquiring Hard Muscles and a Sound Body.

A number 12 bore gun when loaded with three drams of powder will send a load of shot further and shoot harder than if double this amount of powder is used.

If too much powder is used, all of it will not explode until it leaves the muzzle of the gun.

That portion which does not explode at the proper time, interferes with the direction, and checks the velocity or force of the shot.

Hard muscles and a strong body do not depend on the quantity of food, but on its perfect digestion and proper assimilation.

If the nutrient properties of all of the food that may be eaten are appropriated by the blood and tissues, the muscles of the body will grow harder and stronger, whether you eat much or little.

You may be well, but not strong. What you want is strength,—physical force.

You do not have to be sick to need Kodol Dyspepsia Cure.

Thousands of men and millions of women have need for just what Kodol Dyspepsia Cure will do for them.

A little Kodol after meals, will enable the stomach and digestive organs to digest and assimilate every atom of all of the wholesome food that may be eaten.

It will do more.

It will enable the stomach to extract from the food all its nutrient properties, and contribute the same to the blood.

It will enable the blood to circulate freely and deposit a full quota of this tissue-building and strength-giving material into every nook, corner, muscle and fibre of your whole being.

The result is perfect strength.

And perfect health.

Disease cannot lay hold on the man or woman whose physical condition is thus fortified. Recommended by Green's Pharmacy Co.

Give Your Stomach a Rest.

Your food must be properly digested and assimilated to be of any value to you. If your stomach is weak or diseased take Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. It digests what you eat and gives the stomach a rest, enabling it to recuperate, take on new life and grow strong again. Kodol cures sour stomach, gas, bloating, heart palpitation and all digestive disorders. L. A. Soper, of Little Rock, Ky., writes us: "We feel that Kodol Dyspepsia Cure deserves all the commendation that can be given it, as it saved the life of our little girl when she was three years old. She is now six and we have kept it for her constantly, but of course she only takes it now when anything disagrees with her. Sold by Green's Pharmacy.

Celebrated Ninetieth Birthday.

Michael Rockey celebrated his ninetieth birthday, recently, at his home near Tylersville, in Sugar Valley, Mr. Rockey, although afflicted with palsy about three years ago, is in reasonable good health. He comes from a family noted for longevity, his mother having attained the age of one hundred and three years. His parents, Barnett and Margaret Rockey, came from Brush Valley.

Mr. Rockey, the subject of this sketch, founded the village of Tylersville and named the place after John Tyler, then president of the United States. He was one of the first school teachers in Clinton county and at that time when there were but two schools in Sugar Valley. Later he was elected to the office of justice of the peace by the Democratic party, and served in that capacity for more than a third of a century.

Michael Rockey was married to Miss Amelia Kleckner who passed away eleven years ago. Their children living are W. B. Rockey, Mrs. J. D. Hubler and Mrs. W. H. Rishel, of Tylersville; Misses Mattie and Cathering Rockey at home. He was again married eight years ago to his present wife, Mrs. Molley Tunke, of Coburn. One brother, William F., the last survivor of the family of nine children, lives in Lincoln, Nebraska.

The Sugar Valley Journal, in giving an elaborate account of the birthday celebration, closes thus: He attributes his long life to simplicity of habits. He has been a coffee drinker, a user of intoxicants and an exceedingly moderate chewer of tobacco.

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes.

The kidneys are your blood purifiers, they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood.

If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work.

Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries.

It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

or the adventures of a Female Sherlock Holmes a realistic romance founded on fact by Fanny May. You who have been reading the daily papers can easily imagine how the thought came to the author's mind to write this story. Though purely a romance, many of its most sensational and dramatic scenes are based on fact. It is a startling expose of a wicked man's wiles. This realistic romance begins in No. 1644 of THE NEW YORK FAMILY STORY PAPER.

MINERS WILL GO ON STRIKE !

No Agreement as to Wages Was Reached.

CONFERENCE CLOSES

Forty-five Thousand Men Will Quit Work Operators and Miners Have Been Dickering.

BUT FAILED TO COME TO TERMS.

Altoona, March 30.—The operators and miners of the Central Bituminous district of Pennsylvania, after being in conference in this city almost continuously since March 16, endeavoring to agree upon a wage scale to go into effect April 1, adjourned finally yesterday, without coming to an agreement. The failure to agree means a suspension of work by the 45,000 organized miners of the district at the end of the present month. When the joint wage scale committee met yesterday the operators stood upon their proposition for a ten per cent. reduction for the first half of the approaching mining year and the present scale, based upon 62 cents for pick mining for the second half of the year.

The miners' ultimatum demanded a renewal of the present scale for the full year. No agreement being reached the scale committee adjourned finally. The action of the miners and the committee was approved by the miner's convention which then adjourned.

It was decided to meet next year in Clearfield. National Secretary W. B. Wilson briefly stated the position of the miners, saying that because conditions in the Central Pennsylvania mining field are now better than they have been for the past eighteen months, there is no excuse now for asking the miners to accept a reduction in wages.

The operators have sent the following call for a meeting to all the operators in the district :

Altoona, Pa., March 29, 1905;

Dear Sir :—The joint conference of operators and miners, called at Altoona on March 16, for the purpose of fixing upon a scale of wages for the Central Pennsylvania district, has failed to reach an agreement and adjourned subject the call of either side.

In order that the questions at issue may be thoroughly understood by all interested in this field, you are invited to attend a meeting of the operators to be held at the Hotel Walton, Philadelphia, on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock It is important that there shall be a full representation and that everyone come authorized to state their exact position.

(Signed) By order of the Committee, George E. Scott, Secretary.

The Penalty is Severe.

Few people realize what they are doing when they procure liquor for minors or men of intemperate habits. The fact that a man or boy cannot get liquor himself at the bar is the best evidence in the world that he should not have it. Every community has persons who procure liquors for drunkards and boys under age. Here are two cases that ought to serve as a warning to those who engage in this business. A young man out at Clarion was convicted in the county court last week of procuring liquor for a man of intemperate habits. He was fined $200 and sent to jail for sixty days. Geo. S. Smith, a trustee of one of the churches at Huntingdon, was convicted of furnishing liquor to men of intemperate habits at Huntingdon, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $500 and undergo imprisonment in jail for one year. In giving sentence Judge Woods declared that he proposed to break up the practice of disreputable men, acting as go-between for intemperate persons.

No More Suffering.

If you are troubled with indigestion get a bottle of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure and see how quickly it will cure you. Geo. A. Thompson of Spencer, Ia., says: Have had Dyspepsia for twenty years. My case was almost hopeless. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure was recommended and I used a few bottles of it and it is the only thing that has relieved me. Would not be without it. Have doctored with local physicians and also at Chicago, and even went to Norway with the hopes of getting some relief, but Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is the only remedy that has done me any good, and I can heartily recommend it. Every person suffering with indigestion or Dyspepsia should use it. Sold by Green's Pharmacy.

Judge Will Determine Number of Jurors.

Governor Pennypacker Tuesday signed the bill giving judges of the courts power to determine from time to time the number of jurors to be summoned and returned to serve in the courts.

—Ten thousand demons gnawing away at one's vitals couldn't be much worse than the tortures of itching piles. Yet there's a cure. Doan's Ointment never fails.

Philadelphia Wants a Prodigal Son.

To the Editor of The North American

Philadelphia wants a "prodigal son." She has wanted him for years past, and by his not coming has suffered irreparable injury, financially, intellectually, morally, socially, religiously. She wants him now because she needs him badly, and is beginning to learn that mere bluster, bluff, brandy, abuse, legality, prayer, ten-foot poles handled with perfumed kid gloves will not reform humanity, and that true progress will come, as was foretold by the Spirit long ago, not by might, nor by power, but by my Spirit.

She wants him in the pulpit to confess how worldly and cringing some in the ministry seem to have become; how Christ has been reasoned out of His word, the Spirit of Christ out of His inspired Book; how much afraid men have become of the almighty dollar, of titles, positions, broadcloth and fickle fame; how eager to promote church machinery and scaffolding, to the neglect of the weightier matters of the law, to the ruination of sincere Bible Christianity.

She wants him in the pew to arise and acknowledge that the worshipers have not been true to the Captain of their salvation; that they have not been true to their Master's injunction, "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and His righteousness"; that they have not voted as they prayed.

She wants the prodigal son behind the counter, in the counting room, at the work bench, in the fashionable clubs, in the "Tenderloin," on the streets, at the homes—everywhere,

She wants this prodigal son to come to himself, to see himself as he is, to see his loving Saviour; to see how he has failed; to come to his Heavenly Father and say, "Father, I have sinned against heaven and before Thee. I have despised Thy Son and His message. I have trampled under foot Thy holy work, and made it of no effect by my neglect, glosses, sin and worldiness. I have dishonored Thee by my not living the true Christian life as lived and preached by the Son in its fullness and splendor."

She wants the prodigal son to say to the Father omnipotent and omniscient, "Make me as one of Thy hired servants. Help me to do Thy will, to walk in Thy footsteps, to love what Thou lovest, and to hate what Thou hatest, to take up my cross and follow Thee, to serve Thee at all times in pew or pulpit, on Sunday, in the week's toil and turmoil, to be true at all times to serve Thee in church, in society, at the polls, in prosperity as in adversity—always—everywhere."

When that prodigal returns unto his own, there will be a hot time in the old town. Men everywhere will find heaps of fiery coal on their heads put there by their fellows. Men will no longer stand in self-laudation and pretend to make Heaven believe they are better than the poor publicans. They will love one another, and seek to live the Golden Rule; they will, hand in hand, confess before a common Father that they have done wrong, and promise to do better. Men will no longer sell their greatest earthly boon, their liberty, for a cocktail or a mess of pottage. They will no longer spit in Christ's face, mock the cross, ridicule righteousness. They will no longer seek to enrich themselves by enslaving, debauching, corrupting and running forever their less fortunate less unscrupulous fellow-sinners. Crimes of cunning, frenzied finance, cities corrupt and contented, ballot-box fraud, will be things of the past. Men will again verify the strength and truthfulness of these words by William Penn :

"Governments, like clocks, go from the motion men give them, so by them they are ruined, too. Wherefore governments rather depend upon men than men upon governments. Let men be good, and the government cannot be bad. If it be ill, they will cure it. But if men be bad, let the government be ever so good, they will endeavor to warp and spoil it to their turn."

The prodigal having returned, Philadelphia will not need to search long for a man. He will then be forthcoming, the embodiment, the reflection of the spirits about him, the culmination of true Christian righteousness, of which civic righteousness is but an offshoot. He will not be a scapegoat for the sins of the people, not a grist for the upper and nether millstones, the ins and outs of politics.

Until the return of the prodigal, men will labor for reform in vain, and the desired man will not be available.

GRAYBEARD.

Philadelphia, March 15.

No More Stomach Trouble.

All stomach trouble is removed by the use of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. It gives the stomach perfect rest by digesting what you eat without the stomach's aid. The food builds up the body, the rest restores the stomach to health. You don't have to diet yourself when taking Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. J. D. Erskine, of Allenville, Mich., says "I suffered Heartburn and Stomach trouble for some time. My sister-in-law has had the same trouble and was not able to eat for six weeks. She lived entirely on warm water. After taking two bottles of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure she was entirely cured. She now eats heartily and is in good health. I am glad to say Kodol gave me instant relief." # JAPAN WILL INSIST

On a Heavy Indemnity From Russia.

MUST PAY THE COST

Baron Hayashi Authority for This Declaration—Peace Talk Prevalent But No Move Made.

LINEVITCH TALKS TO HIS TROOPS

London, March 31.—Peace talk is prevalent everywhere, but that negotiations have commenced is positively denied in all official circles here. The foreign office disclaims even having any knowledge of peace proposals. It is quite evident, however, that while the first definite step may be taken at any moment an advance further than indicated in the Associated Press dispatches may be postponed indefinitely.

Baron Hayashi, the Japanese Minister declared to the Associated Press Thursday evening that he had no information in regard to the announcement contained in the St. Petersburg dispatches of the Associated Press that Russia had indirectly made known to Japan the negative conditions on which peace might be concluded, namely no cession of territory and no indemnity, leaving Japan to determine whether peace negotiations could be begun upon that basis but he said unreservedly that the terms then mentioned could not even be considered, then added :

"A cession of territory and no indemnity are the only points negotiable as Japan's ante bellus demands have already been secured by Japan."

M. Takahashi, the Japanese special financial commissioner, in an interview Thursday said to the Associated Press :

"The war cost between $250,000,000 and $300,000,000 the first year, and it is estimated that it will cost $350,000,000 during the present year. It would be unprecedented in the history of great wars that no indemnity and no territory be given up by the vanished. While it is beyond my province to discuss terms of peace, I can express my personal opinion that as the war is upon Japan it is not likely that she will waive the right to an indemnity and cession of territory when concluding peace. What indemnity will be demanded I cannot say but it is my private opinion that it will at least cover the expense of the law. If Russia has assumed that the continuance of the war will deplete our finances before hers it will be another mistake of judgment on her part. We can maintain a sufficient army in Manchuria to keep out the Russians indefinitely, but it will necessitate Japan remaining in Manchuria and administering the province on a war footing which we do not desire. Manchuria is fertile and productive, and an army can be maintained there more economically than in the case of the opposing force in Siberia. If Russia is prepared for the test of war of finance we are willing. The longer the war lasts the more certain it will be that it will not be resumed."

1880 Class Day.

The class of 1880, Pennsylvania State College, is arranging for a class day at the coming commencement at State. The chairman of the committee is James L. Hamill, Esq., of Columbus, Ohio. The graduates of the class are : James L. Hamill, (lawyer) Harrison Building, Columbus, O.; John F. Hickman, died 1902; Ester E. Hunter, died 1897; J. Kelly McCombs, (stock raiser) R. F. D. No. 2, Benson, Neb.; Louis E. Reber (Dean, School of Engineering Pennsylvania State College) State College, Pa.; Geo. P. Rishel, (physician) 2035 Diamond street, Philadelphia; James F. Robb, died in 1899.

The class of 1880 had connected with it sixty-two members, and an effort is being made by the chairman of the committee to have in attendance on that day as large a number as possible.

"Quick lunch" is one of the commonest of city signs. The sign doesn't say 'a healthy lunch of good food—the character of the food apparently is not considered, Its just a quick lunch,—eat, and get away. Is it any wonder that the stomach breaks down? Food is thrown at it, sloopy, indigestible and innutritious food, very often, and the stomach has to do the best it can. Normally there should be no need for medical assistance for the stomach. But the average me thod of life is abnormal and while this continues there will always be a demand for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is the one medicine which can be relied on to cure disease of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It is not a cure all. It is a medicine designed for the stomach, and to cure through the stomach remote diseases which have their cause in the derangement of the stomach and digestive and nutritive system. It cures when all else fails.

—Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup seems especially adapted to the needs of the children. Pleasant to take; soothing in its influence. It is the remedy of all remedies for every form of throat and lung disease.

The Growth of the Telephone.

The annual report of President F. P. Fish, of the American Telephone and Telegraph company just issued shows that the number of subscribers to the Bell system is practically one hundred per cent. better than three years ago. In almost every part of the country each subscriber is now able to talk to twice as many telephones, and through these to a proportionately larger number of people, so that the value of the service to the user constantly increases and its cost to the subscriber in relation to its value, is reduced. The report says that from the point of view of the companies and from that of the public the establishment of rates for service which will give an adequate return and at the same time make rates suitable for varying requirements of subscribers, alike fair to large and small users, is most important. No two localities have the same investment per station nor is the cost of operating the same, but as communities increase in size conditions arise which largely increase the cost. Standard rates are reduced from time to time whenever conditions justify and a constantly increasing proportion of the telephones installed is furnished at the lower scale of rates adapted to the needs of smaller users. It seems well established that the larger and more densely populated a community is the higher must be the rates for the kind of service required in such a community.

By the bulletin on telephones issued by the Census Bureau there were on Dec. 31, 1902, 84,021 telephones classified as independent which were a portion of the Bell system and their number has grown so that on Dec. 31, 1904, there were 167,213 stations of this class. The number of exchange stations in the Bell system at the close of the year was 1,799,633, an increase during the year of 274,466. In addition to these there were telephones used for private line purposes and sub-license stations, so that the total number of telephones of the Bell system on Dec. 31, 1904, was 2,003,213. The total mileage of five of the companies was 4,671,038, of which 712,147 miles were added during the year. The daily average of poll connections was 301,000 and of exchange connections 11,149,000 or a total number of telephone connections during the year of about 3,687,000,000. The expenditure for construction of all the Bell companies during the year was $23,436,700 and in the last five years the expenditure on the Bell telephone plants has reached the sum of $168,786,400.

Sells Body for 75 Cents.

One of the circumstances which one occasionally hears about but is very loathe to believe is alleged to have happened at Rathmel recently. A Polander, so the report goes, died at that place recently. The man did not belong to any of the different orders that flourish there, nor did he seem to have any great number of friends. His money was always a very scarce article. What to do with his body was a perplexing question. It would take money to bury it.

While the question was under discussion it is said that a man drove along in a wagon, stopped at the house and came in. He asked the man at whose place the deceased had boarded if they were not going to bury him? "No," was the reply. "That take too much mon." "Well what do you want for the body?" asked the visitor. "Oh, I sell him cheap."

A bargain was finally struck whereby the man with the wagon became the possessor of the body for seventy-five cents, and drove away with it. He is alleged to have sent it to Philadelphia and secured $50 for it

Inquiry at Rathmel failed to receive any conformation of the story, but the party relating it at this place is sure of the facts as they are given above.

The man who sold the body is said to have assisted in tying the feet of the corpse, and now every night at midnight he is wrought up to a terrible state by imagining that he sees the dead man, who returns as a specter and by beckoning implores him to untie his feet. The strain has reached such a pitch that the boarding house keeper is almost crazy,—DuBois Courier.

Vin-Te-Na... Means Vim.

It is a medicine that actually feeds the weakened nerves by enriching and purifying the blood. Each ingredient is of the highest medical value. It cures more diseases than any other remedy on the market simply because it gets right down to the source of nine-tenths of all diseases, that is, the blood and nerves. When the blood is made pure and rich and the nerves are toned, diseases disappear as surely as shadows disappear when the light is turned on. If you are rheumatic; if you have stomach, liver or bowel trouble; if your nervous system is going to pieces, Vin-te-na will cure you because all these troubles are caused by bad blood.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, D. C., April 4th.

When the extra session of Congress is called in October the president will present for its consideration the two questions which were passed at the last session without legislation, that is, railroad rates, legislation and the revision of the Dingley tariffs in certain schedules. The action of the two bodies comprising Congress on these two matters is not difficult to prophesy. The lower house, the members of which are dependent on their constituents for their place necessarily reflects the views of the people, and it is well known that the great general public is with the president in his desire to regulate railway rates. On the other hand, the Senate represents, to a certain extent, the great corporate interests of the country, and as a body it will be no more inclined to pass the railroad rate bill at the coming session than it was at the last. The new House of Representatives will, in all likelihood, pass a rate bill as easily as the last one, but it will be in the Senate that a blockade can almost surely be predicted. There are Senators from the greatest states in the Union who represented in the Senate not the people from their states but private corporate interests and it is these Corporation Senators who will be responsible for the defeat of the bill. One thing alone can prevent the miscarriage of these reforms and that is for the corporation Senators to be made to understand in no uncertain way that they are in the Senate to represent the people and to fulfill their wishes. During the summer months the people will have an opportunity through the press and other sources to inform their Senators what they desire in the matter and to find out as well, where their Senators stand on these important matters. Men who are representing great trusts in the Senate whether the Express Company trust, railroad trusts, coal trusts or any other monopoly should be catechised by the people and be made to declare themselves. If railway rate legislation is to be effected in this or any other Congress it can only be by the people forcing the Senators to represent the states aright and not according to the dictates of the companies for whom they act as agents in the Senate.

It is announced by those high in authority that Herbert W. Bowen, the American Minister at Caracas, Venezuela, and who is said to have been responsible for some of the recent trouble in that country will be removed. President Cipriano Castro, the Venezuelan president and Mr. Bowen have been enemies for some time and the ill feeling between them, it is alleged, has prevented an understanding between this Government and that of Venezuela. The Special Diplomatic Envoy of Venezuela has reached Washington and it is thought, likely, that he has intimated that the removal of Minister Bowen would be very acceptable to president Castro. The Government's reply to our demand for arbitration on the Asphalt question has not yet reached this city, but it has been characterized by Mr. Bowen as impertinent and insulting and if this is found to be the case a change in our diplomatic representative there would be regarded as a concession to Castro that the government would be disinclined to make. On the other hand, if Mr. Bowen should not be removed that is probable that president Castro will formally notify the Government here that Mr. Bowen is persona non grata and his recall would be imperative. Mr. Irving B. Dudley, of California, now Minister to Peru, is mentioned as Mr. Bowen's probable successor.

The suggestion that president Roosevelt will be compelled by the people to withdraw his statement that he would not be a candidate for the next election and that he will be elected for a third term grows as the days pass. Some of the most influential newspapers have already taken up the argument and many public men are firmly convinced that the voters of the country are not going to allow Theodore Roosevelt to retire from the White House at the end of this term. His friends are saying that of the two obligations to stand by the statement he made just after his election or to accede to the wishes of the people and accept a nomination that came unsought and was the expression of the strongest desire of the voters his duty would certainly lie on the side of the latter. Should this be the situation which confronts the president at the next convention and unless there s hall be great changes in the sentiment of the people it will be,—there is a general conviction that he could not conscientiously regard his statement as binding and that he could not be persuaded to regard it as his duty to accept the imperious call.

The president's decision in the Santo Domingan situation by which this government will administer the finances of that country pending the ratification of the treaty by the Senate next fall is regarded with great satisfaction by practically every one except those Senators who either represent some opposed private interest or whose policy is simply one of opposition. Circumstances have made it clear that we are the one power to which Santo Domingo was entitled to look for assistance and that in the world wide interest of peace and order it was our duty to assume the responsibility of administering her debts and providing for the payment of her creditors in a reasonable time. Moreover, in our own interest, it was advisable that we should do anything possible to prevent the seizure of the Island by a foreign power with the accompanying likelihood that we would in time be compelled to disestablish the European Naval base in West Indian waters that would be the development. In the interest of the Republic itself and the small governments of the South American states the example is good and is likely to lead to a better and wiser administration by those governments of their finances. Viewed from every reasonable standpoint it is apparent that the president is justified by his orders concerning Santo Domingo and it is probable by Fall that the approval of the plan will so far have overcome the first resentment of certain Senators that the treaty will have support even on the Democratic side. The Caribbean sea must finally be regarded as an American Lake just as the Gulf of Mexico and the Government must be made to feel that it has rights and responsibilities in that sphere just as it has about the Gulf of Mexico. Without regard to the Monroe Doctrine we have on various critical occasions interfered in the affairs of our nearby Latin-American neighbors and we must do it more and more as their needs and our powers increase,

State Sabbath School Association.

Next Sunday six representatives of the State Sabbath School Association will conduct an institute in Bellefonte. The arrangements for the various services are as follows: Sunday meeting—Presbyterian church, Rev. Dr. Erdman; Methodist, W. G. Lander, Field Sec'ty; Reformed, Hugh Cork, General Sec'ty; Lutheran, Mr. VanDyke; United Brethren, Miss Lincoln.

In the afternoon at 3:30 o'clock a mass meeting for the Sunday schools and all others who are interested will be held in the Methodist church.

In the evening there will be held two union services, one in the Presbyterian church and the other in the Methodist church Dr. Erdman and others will have charge of the evening meeting in the Methodist church and Mr. Cork and others will conduct the meeting in the Presbyterian church.

Special music will be furnished at these union meetings by the male quartette made up of these state representatives. Everybody is invited, Let the churches be crowded and let us take new inspiration for better work in our Sunday chools.

—Frank, the two-and-a-half-year-old son of Landlord D. B. Johnson, of the Junction hotel at Lock Haven, who was on Saturday playing along the tracks of the Bald Eagle Valley railroad near the depot at that place while attempting to cross the tracks in front of an approaching engine was knocked down by the engine and fell between the rails where he lay perfectly quiet while the engine and two cars passed over him. The engineer stopped as quickly as possible and went back, expecting to gather up the mangled remains of the boy, but found him entirely unhurt excepting a slight abrasion above the right eye. Had the little fellow attempted to move after he was struck he would doubtless have been killed.

—Great Britain and Germany are satisfied to leave Santo Domingo and her obligations to foreigners entirely in the hands of the United States. If the other creditors of Santo Domingo are wise they will also accept the situation gracefully, and they will all get their money in good time. Our Uncle of the Stars and Stripes attire is a first-class financier, and also a great stickler for justice abstract and concrete.

—The Ladies Minstrel show which was to have taken place in Petrikin Hall April 27th under the auspices of the W. C. T. U., has been postponed indefinitely owing to sickness in the company.

Millions of Money, Millions

The way the Standard Oil Co. made their millions was by slling us coal oil. Every time we consume a gallon of coal oil we add to their millions. They have a net profit of over 100 per cent. on every gollon of oil we consume. Electric light and city gas are both sold at over 100 per cent. clear profit. If you buy a and make your own light, which is a beautiful, soft white light, and only costs about one-third as much as city gas or electric light It is cheaper than coal oil. The Sunlight "Omega" light machine works automatically, no trouble and so simple to operate that anyone can learn how to make the light in ten minutes. If you live in the country, city or town you can have light that is better, purer, cheaper, less dangerous and less troublesome than any light in existance.

Acetylene Fixtures, Chandeliers. etc., furnished at cost. Any church in my district who will light with acetylene, can have a contribution from me of 10 per cent. of their machine. Inquiries promptly answered, correspondence solicited, estimates furnished upon application.

Mrs. Mollie Shope and family have moved from Milesburg to the old homestead known as the C. G. Whippo property, in this place, on Plank Road St.

W. B. Rankin, of Bellefonte, was seen in our town a couple days. If you think of getting life insurance just give W. B. a wink.

On Thursday evening of last week 24 young folks gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Woodring in honor of their son Charley to bid him good bye. Charley left on Friday for Trafford City, where he will be employed in a hardware store and a lumber yard with Lesher Bros. and his brother-in-law, Wm. G. Weston. After playing a few games, ice cream, cake and oranges were passed around. Charley will be greatly missed among us.

We after waiting so long on Judge Orvis to pass the sentence on the license question in this place are more than glad of his decision for any person stopping with our land lady we have been having doesn't have any kick coming. Neither for sleeping nor eating she gives the best.

Benore.

At last the snow has left us and spring is here. Every one welcomes the change and enjoys the spring sunshine.

The roads are now quite good after the short muddy season.

It is to be hoped that the sun will kill some of the disease germs which have been "gripping" our people in general. Much sickness has prevailed everywhere about us especially among the children.

Mrs. Rutter is out once more after being ill for sometime with cold and grip

Miss Moyer of Bloomsburg, who spent her spring vacation with her aunt, Mrs. Rutter, has returned to her home.

The ladies aid society of the M. E. Church of this place will hold a social on Friday evening, April 7th, at the home of Mrs. Wm. B. Miles, refreshments will be served during the evening, and other arrangements are being made that will warrant a good social time for young and old, a small admission fee of five cents will be charged, the public in general are cordially invited to be present to help a good cause along.

John Grubb of Clearfield has moved back to the burg on east Hazel street, he has drank the water from the new water plant and wants more of it.

A great many changes have been made, in the way of movings, to give the names and location space will not permit.

Sam'l Campbell now holds a diploma from the Corresponding School of Scranton, we had the pleasure of seeing it on Saturday afternoon. He had four years hard work for it.

Unionville.

Your correspondent has been absent from home for some time. This accounts for the absence of the Unionville items. No. 2 and No. 1 reported at such length at first that we thought it not worth while to repeat.

This is moving time and flittings are to be seen in abundance. John Brunger is moving to Johnstown, where he is engaged in business for the Heinz pickle company. Mrs. Brunger's mother, Mrs. Andrew Thompson, is selling off and breaking up her home here and will go to make her home with her daughter. George Bulick will occupy the house. The Thompson family have always resided in this neighborhood and will be sadly missed. We wish them success and happiness in their new home.

Wm. Iddings, another old resident, has disposed of his household goods and gone to live with his daughter, Mrs. Jessie Irvin, on Dix Run. His home will be occupied by Perry Moran. Mrs Heaton is moving up the "Pike" west of town. and the house they vacate, owned by Mrs. Elwood Fisher, has been rented by Mrs. Wm. Moran. Alfred Brower, residing in a part of Sherman Spott's house, will move below town, into the house owned by David Hall. George Hall has bought the property owned by Perry Moran and moved his daughter and family there. Ed. Griest has sold his property to Martin Hogan. The Alexander house has been purchased by Grant Hoover.

Mrs. Melissa Bing has returned from her winter resort in the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. R Holland, at DuBois. Mrs. Bing is always welcomed home and just as glad herself to get home. She will take up her abode in the old Bing residence on Main street.

Mrs. Mary Menshey has been for a visit with friends in Philipsburg and while there was taken with grippe and had to prolong her stay beyond her expectations. She has now returned though not entirely well.

Mrs. Mattie Griest has also been sick She is out again, looking well.

Robert Cambrige has recovered from a severe attack of grippe.

Ely Erhard is laid up again with a sore limb. We hope for him a speedy recovery.

The schools will close here this week and the grammar school will give an entertainment in Grange hall on the evening of the 7th or Friday evening. An admission of 10cts will be charged for the benefit of the school Library. The teacher, J. A. Pratt, is working hard to make it a success and a good time is expected.

The Christian Endeavor meeting on Sunday evening was an unusually interesting one. The attendance was good and the topic "The Growth of the Christian," a very important one. A fine spirit was manifested throughout the meeting and all seemed to enjoy it. The leader was Mrs. Alfred Brower, a new member.

On last Sabbath afternoon the Free Methodist minister, Mr. Smith, immerced four converts in the Bald Eagle creek below the bridge. The persons were Waldo VanValin, Clyde VanValin, Samuel Stimer and Mr. Hantzcome. A large crowd of people congregated to witness the solemn ceremony and we hope and pray that the baptism may be all and more to the recipients than they anticipate, that their lives may be purified and made similar to that of Jesus who was baptized by John in the river Jordan.

Rev. Piper, the M. E. minister, who has returned to this charge is welcomed again by his church and preached his first sermon on Sunday evening.

Miss Hannah Thompson attended a missionary convention at Philipsburg last week and reports a grand and good time.

Miss Jennie Fisher is with her sister in New Jersey who has been ill with pneumonia. She is now convalescing.

Fowler.

Our schools closed this week.

Sunday school was organized at Hannah, it is hoped there will be a good attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Burns burried their little son at Black Oak Friday.

Mrs. Christena Beckwith made a business trip to Bellefonte Monday.

Mrs. Fred Widely, of Tyrone, is visiting friends at this place.

Miss Lizzie Hoover closed her school with an entertainment, every one says the teacher and scholars did fine.

They say we will soon hear the wedding bells, that is right James.

Centre Hall.

Clay Reesman who was laid off by the P. R. R. last fall has gone to work again being at present assisting in the office at Pitcairn. Edward Bartholomew who has been a student at the Centre Hall office for several years has been assigned to office work at one of the stations between Coburn and Glen Iron. Ted as we all call him, was a pains taking student and will no doubt soon be promoted to a more important station.

This week and last week have been distinguished for movings in this section of Penns Valley. The death of William Sholl and consequent breaking up of the family opened the way for movings and ever since there has been an almost constant string of flittings.

Next Sabbath the Presiding Elder of this denomination will preach and communion will be held.

Julian.

Everyone seems to be making garden these fine days,

Mr. Beithol has moved his family to Gardner where he expects to farm some this summer.

J. C. Hoover transacted business in Bellefonte on Monday.

Mr. Crider, of Bellefonte, was a caller in our town this week. He was looking up some clear white pine.

Musser Sones has been quite sick for the past ten days but is much better now.

Ira F. Davis has bought a new driving horse and is now prepared to put out quite a stylish rig.

Mrs. Geo. W. Parsons and son, of Williamsport, spent last Sunday with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jno. Parsons, of this place.

T. V. Stevens has moved from his farm to our town, where he expects to work for the present at least.

Henry Rice, of Philipsburg, is here doing quite a lot of repair to J. C. Nason's dwelling—known as the Hoover property.

There is a little rumor of a wedding in the near future. However, your correspondent will write it up in these columns a little later on.

Michael Murphy is building a new house on his farm which will add greatly to its appearance.

Anyone wishing fine shoe repairing will do well to call on Edward Richards who has bought a full set of tools and has moved his shop right opposite the post office.

Ardell Campbell spent Sunday with Henry Hale.

There will be preaching services in the U. B. church on next Sabbath evening at 7:30 o'clock, To these services you are invited.

Mrs. L. C. Bullock has been ill for the past month; also Mrs. Chas. Murray, but we are glad to note they are both able, at this writing to be up and around.

Miss Steel, teacher of the Silver Dale school, with her pupils, visited our school one afternoon last week. Miss Steel has a well governed school.

The grass and grain in this section looks well and all the farmers are in good spirits with the coming outlook.

Mrs. John Gingery, of Martha, spent last Saturday with Mrs. Reed. She returned home on the evening train.

Woodward.

—It is stated that when the summer schedule is put in force on the Beech Creek railroad it will provide for a Sunday train to make one round trip beween Patton and Williamsport.

JUDGE A. V. LARIMER.

Morning Side Man Expires in Chicago —Just Returned From the South.

The following particulars of the death of Judge A. V. Larimer, taken from the Sioux City Journal of March 25 will be read with interest by the many friends of the family in Bellefonte and throughout Centre county. Previous notice having been published in this paper.

Judge Adam V. Larimer, of Morning Side, aged 76 years, a pioneer of Iowa, is dead in Chicago, where he had gone to take treatment for a chronic ailment.

The news of Judge Larimer's death came to Sioux City last evening in a telegram from Mrs. Larimer to A. L. Beardsley, and confidential business adviser to the deceased man. It read as follows:

Chicago, Ill., March 24.—The judge died yesterday, I was not here; waiting to hear from Weatherly.

It was but two weeks ago that Mr. Beardsley parted from Judge and Mrs. Larimer at Mobile, Ala. They had been looking over the property near Mobile in which A. M. Jackson, Mr. Beardsley, Fred Davis, J. H. Quick and other Sioux City people are interested. Judge Larimer had felt a recurrence of his old trouble, ulcer of the bladder, and two weeks ago yesterday had left for Chicago to place himself under the care of his physician, Dr. Overall, who had attended to his case before. Mrs. Larimer went to Plattsmouth, Neb., to visit.

OVEREXERTED HIMSELF.

Mr. Beardsley believes the judge's overexertion in walking about the Alabama land brought on the fatal attack The judge was filled with enthusiasm over the country where the Sioux City men have located homesteads. He spent nearly two days in walking about over the property, and this exercise, Mr. Beardsley thinks, was too much for one of his weak physical condition and advanced age, 76 years. When Mr. Beardsley talked to the judge he did not think his condition was anything serious, although the judge was plainly fatigued and not at all well.

The Mr. Weatherly referred to in Mrs. Larimer's telegram is E. S. Weatherly, of Omaha, who married one of the judge's nieces. It is evident from the telegram that Mrs. Larimer was not summoned from Plattsmouth to Chicago quickly enough to arrive before the demise of her husband.

CAME TO IOWA IN 1854.

Judge Adam V. Larimer was one of the earliest and most widely known Iowa pioneers, having come to this state in 1854. He was born at Bellefonte, Pa., in 1829. He attended Allegheny college, where he began his acquaintance with Senator William B. Allison, who was his college mate there. They were almost the same age. Mr. Larimer read law with ex-Gov. Curtin, of Pennsylvania, and attended Judge McCartney's law school at Easton, Pa., for one year, being admitted to the bar in 1852.

In March, 1854, Judge Larimer removed to Council Bluffs, Io., coming overland. The judge was fond of telling his friends how he landed at the Bluffs with just 50 cents in his possession. But he was a young man of ability and that was soon recognized. In the fall of 1854 he was elected prosecuting attorney and upon the resignation of the county and probate judge he became judge for two years In 1857 he was elected a member of the state legislature. He practiced his profession at Council Bluffs until 1876, when, together with A. M. Jackson, now of Sioux City, he engaged in the stock business in Wyoming.

OWNED LARIMER'S ADDITION.

Judge Larimer moved to Sioux City in 1886. He invested heavily in Sioux City property. At morning Side he bought that property, which was platted as Larimer's addition, the property being managed by Mr. Jackson, who came to Sioux City with him. Larimer station, at Morning Side, was named for him. He also was interested in property on the West Side, together with the late F. T. Evans. Of late years Mr. Larimer had not been in active business, though he retained much of his property in Sioux City.

The widow is the only survivor. It is believed by Mr. Beardsley that the interment will be at the old home town in Omaha.

—Don't forget Prof. J. Angel the noted eye specialist of Williamsport, will be at the Brockerhoff house tomorrow, Thursday, April 6th, all day.

—All canned goods sold in Pennsylvania must have the date of the canning stamped thereon, if a bill introduced by Representative Rose, of Susquehana, in the legislature shall become a law. The bill provides that all bottled foodstuffs shall be labeled, and such label shall bear the date of preparation, quality and exact quantity of such goods.

—A few copies of the Centre County census directory published several years ago are for sale. This work contains the names, age, occupation and post office address of every individual in Centre Co. The directory will be sent post-paid to any address upon receipt of $3. Address

AFTER 34 YEARS.

The wise buyer is "posted" in what he buys and where to buy. 34 years of unquestioned ascendence. 34 years of steady improvement in quality and workmanship. 34 years of constant increase in sales and still growing. This is the record of Schofield's harness factory. (Are there any who will deny the above?) Three first class workmen kept busy all winter, making heavy and light harness. Our stock is complete in farm, tug, buggy, spring wagon and light double driving harness. Our chain harness this year are cheaper and better than ever. We have a large assortment of fine tug bridles, made in different styles.

We Invite You To Call

and examine our goods and get prices. Don't pay the price for old harness when you can buy new for the same money. Don't ask us to compete with inferior made goods, as we use only the best material and employ first class workmen.

We have over six hundred dollars worth of collars, ranging in price from two to four dollars. Don't fail to see these goods before buying. Yours truly, for your trade.

JAMES SCHOFIELD.

TEXT OF THE BILL PREPARED BY THE PENNSYLVANIA CHILD LABOR COMMITTEE.

Careful Study of Its Clauses Will Show What Advantages Will Come to the Children of the State Through Its Passage and Strict Enforcement.

The bill now approved by the Pennsylvania Child Labor Committee contains the following provisions:

No child under fourteen years of age shall be employed for wages or salary in any establishment.

No female under the age of sixteen years shall be employed in any establishment in the manufacture of cigars or tobacco.

No minor under sixteen years and no female shall be employed in any establishment for a longer period than sixty hours in any one week nor for a longer period than eleven hours in any one day. No minor under sixteen shall be employed in any establishment between the hours of six P. M. and seven A. M. Provided, that where the material in process of manufacture requires the application of manual labor for an extended period after six P. M. to prevent waste or destruction of said material, male minors over fourteen years of age and who have not been employed in or about such establishment between the hours of seven A. M. and six P. M., may be employed for not more than ten consecutive hours in any one day after six P. M.; and Provided, further, that in establishments where night work is hereby permitted to prevent waste or destruction and where the nature of the employment requires two or more working shifts in the twenty-four hours, males over fourteen years of age may be employed partly by day and partly by night, Provided said employment does not exceed nine consecutive hours; and Provided, further, that retail mercantile establishments shall be exempt from the provisions of this section on Saturday of each week and during a period of twenty days, beginning with the fifth day of December and ending with the twenty-fourth day of the same month, provided that during the said twenty days preceding the twenty-fourth day of December, the working hours shall not exceed ten huors per day or sixty hours per week.

No minor under sixteen years of age shall be permitted to clean or oil machinery while in motion or to operate or otherwise have care or custody of any elevator or lift.

It shall be unlawful for the owner, superintendent, lessee or other person in charge of any establishment where persons are employed for wages or salary, to employ any child between the ages of fourteen and sixteen years, unless there is first provided and placed on file in the office of the establishment where said child is employed, a certificate in the form provided by the Chief Factory Inspector, which certificate shall be uniform throughout the state. It shall be the duty of the factory inspector or any of his office force, the deputy factory inspectors or of the city or borough common school superintendents, within their various jurisdictions, or of the principal teacher of the common schools, in localities not under the jurisdiction of any city or borough superintendent, or of their respective duly authorized deputies, to issue the employment certificate hereinafter prescribed. No principal teacher shall be authorized to issue said employment certificate within any district over which a superintendent has jurisdiction. The district of such city or borough superintendent or principal teacher shall be the same as that in which the child seeking an employment certificate resides.

The employment certificate shall state the name, age, date, place of birth and description (including color of eyes, hair and complexion) of said child, its residence and the residence of its parent, guardian or custodian, and the ability of said child to read and write simple sentences in the English language, that it has complied with the education laws of the Commonwealth and is physically able to perform the work to be required of it.

Provided, That before any such certificate of employment is issued, the person authorized to issue the same shall demand and obtain of the parent, guardian or custodian of said child an affidavit, sworn to before any officer authorized to administer oaths, made by him or her, stating the age, date and place of birth of said child; and shall further demand and obtain a certificate of said child's birth, as kept by any public authority, or transcript of the record of its birth, baptism or circumcision, as kept by any religious denomination, or, in the case of a foreign child (if such evidence of age be lacking) a true copy of the passenger manifest, passport or official record, filed at the office of the Commissioner of Immigration at the port of arrival, as corroborative evidence of the truth of the facts set forth in the affidavit, and shall note in his statement as aforesaid, the character of such record and by what public or religious authority the same is issued;

Provided, however, That where no such transcript of public or religious record or manifest, passport of official record, as aforesaid, of said child's age is obtainable, the same may be substituted by a statement, signed by the principal teacher of the last school which said child attended, certifying that said child has received instruction in reading, spelling, writing, English grammar and geography, and is familiar with the fundamental operations of arithmetic and has completed the course of study in the common schools prescribed for the first five years or a course of study in other schools equivalent thereto. At the time of the issue of the employment certificate, the person so issuing the same shall make one copy thereof, which copy shall be filed, within ten days from the date of its issue, in the office of the common school superintendent of the district in which the child holding the certificate resides, and in districts not having such a superintendent, the said copy shall be filed in the office of the Chief Factory Inspector and shall be subject to the inspection of the public. The certificate of the registration of birth, baptism or circumcision, or, in the case of a foreign born child, the copy of passenger manifest, passport or official record, as hereinbefore prescribed, or, in the absence of such transcripts, the statement of the principal teacher, certifying that such child has received instructions as prescribed, as well as the affidavit of the parent, guardian or custodian, shall be filed with a copy of said employment certificate. The certificate when issued shall be the property of the said child, who shall be entitled to a surrender of the certificate to him or her by the employer whenever said child shall leave the service of any employer holding the certificate.

CHILDREN FED TO MOLOCH

Dr. Felix Adler Thus Characterizes the Labor of Children.

Humanitarians as well as materialists have raised their voices in protest against the laws that permit the traffic in children's strength at the expense, not merely of the child, but of the community.

Collier's Weekly voices this protest and makes incidental comment upon conditions in Pennsylvania in the following editorial:

Child labor in England began when modern machinery brought a demand for cheap operatives. Then, as Dr. Felix Adler has said, somebody had the idea of shoveling all the unowned and unloved children into factories. "Children were fed to machines as literally as in ancient idolatry they were fed to Moloch." They worked for fourteen hours a day and rotted by the thousand. A parliamentary inquiry showed the case of a seven-year-old boy whose father used to wake him before daybreak, carry him to the mill and leave him there to tend a machine for sixteen hours a day. Women crawled through two-foot galleries on their hands and knees, dragging by a long chain attached to a leather belt a cart holding three hundred or four hundred pounds of coal. "How is it," asked the strong Jewish thinker, "that human beings are capable of such brutality?" Why is it that in England, an Anglo-Saxon country, where woman is supposed to be a kind of goddess, the womanhood was crushed out of little girls and grown women groveled and dragged carts?" Two years ago there were 20,000 children under twelve years of age at work in our southern states. Pennsylvania has 35,000 under sixteen, the greater number of them under twelve. Elizabeth Barrett Browning once asked of England, "How long, oh cruel nation, will you trample on a child's heart?" "This," says Dr. Adler, "is not Russia. What do you think of our own czars of industry?"

BE ATTRACTIVE.

Even the Plainest Woman Can Make Herself Lovable.

Many a glorious crown of hair is made hideous by foolish arrangement. The entire halo is twisted in hard knots and done in little door knobs and Alp-like bumps that are anything but beautiful, while around the edges in single file go small mouselike curls that leave the hair line scraggy and horrid. Just a little knack, merely a suggestion of artistic sense, and that beautiful mop of hair could be made into such a glorious pyramid of soft waves and loops that the girl would be considered lovely ever after, no matter if freckles streaked her brow and her eyes were green.

Many a pair of eyes would be beautiful if the one whose eyes they happen to be would let a little of the soul, the sweet thoughts, the goodness of her, beam through. The woman who feels no emotions, whose heart is not stirred by sympathy or appreciation or the kindnesses of other people, has eyes that are cold and staring. They are eyes—nothing more. But the eyes of the tender hearted, whole souled woman! Why, they are beautiful just because she makes them lovely by sending into them the warmth of her graciousness and womanliness.

Consider the question of the hands. Of course long slender hands are beautiful, especially when the nails are shaped prettily and the skin is soft and smooth and white. Yet the most beautifully modeled hands can be extremely ungraceful, while hands that are naturally well formed can justly be considered pretty if they move with charm and daintiness. So let us console ourselves with the tender thought that there are possibilities in all of us. Even the plainest woman can be attractive. She can cultivate a sweet voice and gentle manners, and she can breathe an air of freshness and cleanliness that is a thousand times more beautiful than the most beautiful woman in the world without these attributes. It is all a matter of making the best of the materials that are at hand. Let the glory of the few beauty qualities cover up the lack of the many. —Chicago Tribune.

KITCHEN TABLE.

Have an Upper Deck For Use When Making Bread.

There are many little contrivances that help to make the work of the kitchen less laborious, and the wise woman will adapt each one as it comes to her notice. For instance, when bread is to be made an "upper deck" for the kitchen table will be found to be convenient. For one thing it saves whoever is making the bread from the need to bend over the table. Besides this it almost doubles the table space, as the illustration given herewith makes plain. As this extra piece is only set upon the table, it may be kept in a closet when not actually needed. The end supports may be hinged to the upper part and folded in when the board is not really in use.—Ladies' Home Journal.

Wicker Furniture.

Oftentimes a piece of wicker furniture grows dirty past all cleaning. In these cases they should be dyed, and this can be done easily and successfully. In the first place, the old varnish must be removed. To do this pour boiling water, to which a little piece of washing soda has been added, over the piece of furniture and after it is dry wipe it with a piece of flannel which has been wet in either turpentine or naphtha. The next day it will have to be sandpapered. To take the dye evenly the whole surface should be wet just before the color is applied with clear hot water. Most housekeepers prefer a white enamel to any colored stain. When white is used the piece of furniture which you are renovating must be left perfectly dry. Give it two coats of white varnish, then rub it down with sandpaper, and after this oil it with a soft silk cloth and rub until there is a high polish.

Washing Linens.

A firm of linen manufacturers gives some useful hints for washing table and other linens. They advise the best of washing soaps, to begin with. Soaps full of alkali discolor linen. It is better to wring linen by hand or at least have the rollers of the wringer fairly loose. Be sure that the rinsing process is thorough. A great improvement in doing up linen is this stock: Dissolve one ounce of gum arabic in half a pint of warm water. Add one tablespoonful of the solution to a quart of water and wring out the linens in the mixture. A point in the care of towels—admonish the masculine members of the family never to wipe a razor on a towel. The damage done often does not show at the time, but is apparent after the towel is washed.

THAT GIFT OF $100,000

Discussion Over Rockefeller Bequest Not Over

A NEW STATEMENT

It Comes From H. H. Rogers Vice President and Director of the Standard Oil Company.

HE REPLIES TO REV. DR. GLADDEN

New York, April 1.—H. H. Rogers, vice president and director of the Standard Oil company, Friday made a statement as to the conduct of the Standard Oil company which was evidently prompted by the criticism of the prudential committee of the American board of foreign missions for accepting a gift of $100,000 from John D. Rockefeller. Mr. Rogers said :

"Ministers say queer things. Dr. Washington Gladden says that everybody knows that John D. Rockefeller has obtained his money dishonestly. With as much reason I could say that everybody knows that Dr. Gladden would not trust the Ten Commandments for ten days with the deacons of his church because they would be sure to break some of them and bend the rest.

"Slavery in certain sections of the United States was legal until President Lincoln's emancipation proclamation. Rebates on railroads were just as legal until the passage of the inter-state commerce commission act. After an exhaustive examination by the industrial commission authorized by congress June 18, 1898, in a review of evidence the commission reported as follows .

"It has been charged as a matter of general belief on the part of almost all the opponents of the Standard Oil company that these discriminations in various forms have been continually received, even up to date. On the other hand, these charges have been denied, and most emphatically by every representative of the Standard Oil company with reference to all cases except one, which they claim was a mistake, the amount of which freight due being properly paid on discovery of the error. The Standard Oil company not merely challenged the opponents to bring forth proof of any case, but produced many letters from leading officials of the railroads to show that the company had in no case received any favors or asked for them.

It became known here Friday that prior to the final action of the prudential committee of the American board of commissioners of foreign missions accepting the $100,000 tendered by John D. Rockefeller a number of prominent members of the board, at a meeting held in this city, considered the matter at length. As a result the parties to the conference issued a statement in which they declare that they did not consider that the acceptance of the gift would compromise the board in any way.

Revolver Shot Cripples Telephone Service.

A queer accident put some of the 'phones of the Huntingdon and Clearfield telephone lines out of business until the trouble was located Sunday by O. B. Porter, chief electrician, formerly of Lock Haven, who discovered more by good luck than otherwise, that somebody had shot a twenty-two calibre cartridge into their aerial cable, the ball of which had shot circuited the wires at that point. The damage done by the bullet was high up in the air on a pole line, and the trouble was located promptly, but more by accident than otherwise, which afforded great relief to the telephone people, who have scientific methods and instruments for locating troubles of that nature, but before these instruments had been called into play Mr. Porter made the discovery, which is remarkable under the circumstances. The damage was repaired immediately.—Lock Haven Democrat.

HICKS' APRIL PREDICTIONS

Says Weather will be a Great Deal Warmer Storms Promised.

We distinctly repeat our statement in March concerning the central date of the Venus equinox. It properly belongs on April 5, instead of May 6, as by an unfortunate mistake it is made to appear in our 1905 almanac. This will throw the first April storm period near the centre of the Venus period, as the first regular Vulcan period is central on the 1st, extending to the 5th.

A marked change to warmer, with a corresponding fall in the barometer, will progressively pass from west to east over the country during the first two or three days of April.

Indications of common change and storms will be apparent to observing people over most parts of the country and these fore-running indications will culminate in storms of rain, wind and thunder centering on and touching Monday and Tuesday, the 3rd and 4th. Any locality in all the great storm belts of the country will be liable to these visitations, and whenever high humidity and temperature, extended by low barometer may exist, to that extent forceful and violent storms will be probable.

Anybody of ordinary intelligence can tell hours before whether or not his immediate locality is going to fall in the direct path of the storm.

The tendency to hail storms will be greatly increased at this time. A copperish electrical cloud will be almost a certain precoursor of approaching hail. The period will end in a change to much cooler with probable snow flurries northward, cool to frosty nights will follow, up to about the 6th.

The 7th and 8th are central dates on and touching with reactionary changes to storm conditions will take place. These changes to warmer, falling barometer, with outbreaks of rain and storminess, will begin in western and make their transit to eastern sections, being followed by rapid rise of the barometer, and much cooler. Electrical Venus storms until past the middle of April should be warnings of sudden change to cooler with frost.

A regular vulcan storm period extends from the 11th to the 15th. The changes that go before the formation and approach the cloudiness and the storms will appear to the westward as we enter this period and later, say from the 13th to the 15th, rain with thunder and storminess will touch numerous localities in their progress over the country. The mercury disturbances blend with these of Venus at this time, will almost surely prolong and intensify storm conditions so that little or no intermission of settled weather will follow this period before the beginning of another.

The next storm period includes the 17th to 20th inclusive. The Easter full moon on the equator and in perigg are embraced in the 17th to the 19th. Very threatening electrical storms, violent and possibly tornadic in places in the west and central are possible, and, probably at this time.

These storms will break up into snow squalls over much of the country northward, and they will be followed by several days of bleak and frosty weather. Late sleet storms will visit many sections on and touching the 17th and 19th.

The next regular storm period is central on the 24th, covering the 23rd to 27th. The barometer will fall generally during the progress of this period, and April showers will thicken into wider and heavier thunder storms. At all the periods in April, up to this period, many parts of the country will get more rain than for many months past. Lowlands in all central and and western states will have too much.

CLEANING

House is one of the duties that a weak woman looks forward to with dread. As a rule, she knows that she must pay for the over-strain with days or weeks of womanly suffering.

Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well.

$500 REWARD! FOR WOMEN

WHO CANNOT BE CURED.

Backed up by over a third of a century of remarkable and uniform cures, a record such as no other remedy for the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women ever attained, the proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States, for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

"I took two bottles of your 'Favorite Prescription' and two of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and am feeling well," writes Mrs. Dan McKenzie, of Lorway Mines, Cape Breton Co., Nova Scotia. "I had uterine trouble, also pain in the side and headache. After taking your medicine I was cured. You may publish this or use it in any way you think best, as I cannot speak too highly of Dr. Pierce and his medicine."

A WOMAN'S BACK.

The Aches and Pains will Disappear if the Advice of This Bellefonte Citizen is followed.

A woman's back has many aches and pains.

Most times 'tis the kidneys' fault.

Backache is really kidney ache;

That's why Doan's Kidney Pills cure it.

Many Bellefonte women know this.

Read what one has to say about it :

Mrs. Nancy Davis, of 246 East Logan Street, says : "I suffered a bad fall some years ago when living in Rochester. I thought at first that I had broken my back. I was unable to get up without assistance and from that time I suffered for years with a weak back and excruciating pains through the loins and through the small of my back. Sometimes I was completely prostrated and helpless. Doctors and medicines failed to help me and the pain continued until I got Doan's Kidney Pills. I took only a few doses before I began to feel better and when I had continued using them for a while I was thoroughly cured. My back regained its strength and the pain left me. I have had no return of the trouble since."

Gallows Cheated.

John C. Walton of Pittsburg called Sunday night at his mother-in-laws home in that city, to see his wife His little daughter opened the door in answer to the bell. The father kissed the little one in the passage and sent her for her mother.

Mrs. Walton met her husband in the dining-room and talked with him about five minutes. A shriek of terror called all to the room. Mrs. Walton was lying on a couch with her head almost severed by a razor stroke.

Walton had run from the house, but he was tracked by a heavy trail of blood to a doctor's house some 200 yards away. As a policeman entered the office to take him, Walton, who, was sitting in a chair, with his head sunk on his breast, threw back his head, revealing a horrible gash in the throat. He died right there.

The pair had been married about ten years ago. About two years ago they parted, the wife's mother caused a reconciliation, but several months ago the wife again left him for her mother's house.

Charles E. Walton, who lives at Latrobe, called at the morgue Monday afternoon, identified the body as that of his brother, and had it shipped to Latrobe. A curious fact in connection with the affair is that the wife he killed by cutting her throat with a razor, will also be buried at Latrobe, where her family also lived formerly. Her body was shipped Tuesday, but it is said that there will be two separate funeral services, and two interments in different parts of the Latrobe Cemetery.

Walton was well known in Greensburg, also, where he lived for a time, when his father, Cyrus Walton was proprietor of the Laird House there. His wife, Susan Hackett Walton, also had an extensive acquaintance there.

Meyers—Irvin.

Mr. George Meyers and Miss Anna Maud Irvin were married at noon on Thursday the 30th at the home of the bride's parents Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Irvin of Baileyville. Rev. R. M. Campbell said the words that bound the young couple for life. It was a pretty home wedding with but the immediate relatives present. Many wedding presents of value and beauty were received. A splendid dinner was served as but few except Mrs. Irvin can prepare.

The groom is a Bellefonte High School graduate the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Meyers of the Branch and no doubt with his energy and push will make farming and stock-raising pay. The bride is a winsome young lady, one of Ferguson township's handsomest school teachers.

The happy young couple took the evening train for Pittsburg to visit relatives for a week. As yet their plans for going to housekeeping are not known.

Hazel--Williard.

A very quiet but pretty wedding took place at the district parsonage in Altoona, Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock when Rev. J. Ellis Bell, united for life Morris Hazel and Miss Josephine Willard.

The groom is the efficient book-keeper for Gamble, Gheen & Co., at this place, while his bride was formerly employed as stenographer for Potter-Hoy Hardware Co., The young couple have many friends in Bellefonte who join with this paper in wishing them a long, happy and prosperous life. They will reside in Bellefonte.

In the Matter of Licenses.

Before leaving for Philadelphia Friday afternoon Judge Orvis handed down a decree granting the following licenses:

Wholesale—John Boyce, Snow Shoe twp; George Parks, Philipsburg.

He also refused the following:

Andrew M. Reeser, Snow Shoe; George Kachik, Snow Shoe; James Black, Philipsburg; Charles Moerschbacher, Bellefonte.

David Chambers application was withdrawn.
